

U. N. FORCES SWARMING OVER NORTH KOREA, HUNTING DOWN DISORGANIZED REMNANTS OF THE COMMUNIST ARMY; EDGING CLOSER TO MANCHURIAN BORDER OF RED CHINA

Troops of ROK 6th Division Link Up With U. S. Paratroopers

ABOVE PYONGYANG

On East Coast ROK Troops Make Gains of 3 and 4 Miles

By Irving Levine
INS War Correspondent

SEOUL, Oct. 21 — (INS) — United Nations forces swarmed over North Korea today, hunting down disorganized remnants of the Communist army and edging ever closer to Red China's Manchurian border.

Above Pyongyang, fallen North Korean capital, troops of the ROK (Republic of Korea) Sixth Division linked up with American paratroopers of the 11th Airborne Division at Suncheon which lies only about 60 air line miles from Manchuria.

The two units made contact about midnight Friday less than eight hours after the paratroop force of about 4,100 men landed at points 25 miles above Pyongyang to cut rail lines, seal off fleeing Reds and rescue American prisoners.

An American First Cavalry task force, spearheaded by tanks, was sent racing northward from Pyongyang to join the paratroopers and ROK forces.

On the east coast ROK troops of the Capitol Division made gains of three and four miles against stiffening Red resistance in their drive toward Manchuria in the area where the Chinese province adjoins Soviet Siberia.

One ROK column reached Tonghung, 90 miles south of the border while another entered Hongwan, about 92 miles from the boundary.

General Douglas MacArthur in orders to his field commanders made it clear that South Korean troops will be used rather than American units in mop up operations close to the Manchurian border where thousands of crack Chinese Communist troops are arrayed along the north bank of the Yalu river.

The South Korean troops were expected to act as a "buffer" force to avoid any border incident between American and Chinese Communist troops.

The paratroopers who made their dramatic jump Friday afternoon under the watchful eyes of General MacArthur met little opposition as they secured their assigned areas against possible attack.

They captured only ten Red prisoners, leading to the belief in some quarters that they may have dropped too late and too far south to trap the main body of Reds fleeing Pyongyang.

A MacArthur spokesman, however, estimated that some 20,000 Reds were caught in a net in the general Pyongyang area.

General MacArthur reported that 7,000 Red prisoners were taken in the 24-hour period following the fall of Pyongyang which was captured Thursday by American First Cavalry troops, a British-Australian brigade and elements of three ROK divisions.

Total number of Red prisoners captured since the start of the Korean war June 25 zoomed to more than 82,000, according to a bulletin from MacArthur's headquarters.

American and South Korean forces, spreading through the Pyongyang area found that American war prisoners known to be in Communist hands had apparently been transferred to the north.

Pyongyang residents reported that North Korean government leaders including Premier Kim Il Sung fled the Red capital last week taking with them some 2,000 American prisoners, presumably as hostages.

Three GI's who escaped from the Communists reached the safety of Pyongyang and told of a death march in which 137 captured American soldiers were killed.

They said they were among a group of 387 captured Americans who were forced at bayonet-point to march 200 miles from Seoul to Pyongyang. When the sick and exhausted fell out of line, too weak to go on, ruthless North Korean guards shot them to death in cold blood.

The Red prisoners captured by American paratroopers near Suncheon said they were from a unit of 1,500 North Korean. The captives said most of the unit was believed to have reached Anju 20 miles northwest of Suncheon.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Korea's immediate needs in food, industrial supplies and medical equipment have been placed at $146,500,000. General MacArthur notified Washington. Long-term relief was being defined in the United Nations Economic and Social Council on the basis of experience in postwar Europe.

Soviet leaders met in Prague with those of seven other Communist lands to consider the question of German rearmament. Washington will reject Moscow's charge that a Western Germany army is being created under the guise of a police force. Germany participation in a Western European defense force was urged by Chancellor Adenauer, who said his country would be the first victim of Russian aggression. The French, the eve of a Germany arms debate, viewed the outlook with growing misgivings. Winston Churchill, in London, deemed German troops essential and hoped France would not block their common defense.

John Foster Dulles told the Political Committee of the United Nations General Assembly that "the door is open" for talks with Russia. Secretary Acheson warned in Washington, however, that he could see no hope for productive results until Western strength matched

LANGHORNE MAN WINS VERDICT IN SUIT OF $206

W. Carman Van Sant Wins In Trial Lasting Two Days

OTHER COURT CASES

Julius G. Heinicke Trial Is Being Presided Over By Judge Biester

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 21 — At the end of a two-day trial a Langhorne man was given a verdict of $206.

Concluding a two-day trial in Civil Court, here, W. Carman VanSant, 40, trading as the VanSant Hosiery Company, Middletown township, was awarded a verdict of $206 before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

In the first suit, in which Otto W. Grummett, trading as Tulip Machine & Tool Company, Philadelphia, was suing the Langhorne hosiery mill owner, the jury returned a verdict in favor of VanSant, the defendant.

VanSant, in a counter-claim filed, was suing for $235.06. The jury returned a verdict in this action in favor of the defendant, VanSant, and against the plaintiff.

The trial, which involved claims since 1948 growing out of the conversion of hosiery mill equipment, was tedious and the jury deliberated from 4:30 until after 8 o'clock before returning a verdict.

Judge Edward G. Biester is still presiding at the trial of Julius G. Heinicke, Ivyland, RD, landscape contractor, who is suing Robert B. and Phyllis Rich Bradley, Lahaska, for $578.58, growing out of a verbal contract to do tree pruning at the defendants' estate between May 18, 1948, and July 13, 1948.

The plaintiff, Heinicke, admitted that he received a $175 check from the defendant, Mrs. Bradley, which was applied to various accounts.

PRESENTS "PLAYGOERS PARTIES" PROJECTS

Mrs. Adeline Fraley, Phila., Appears Before The Travel Club

IS A TEA MEETING

First-hand information on "Playgoers' Parties," scheduled from time to time during the theatre season in Philadelphia, was presented by Mrs. Adeline Fraley, of that city before Travel Club members yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Fraley, director of the project, was introduced by Mrs. Roy Tracy, chairman of the drama committee of the local women's club.

Mrs. Fraley told how such parties came into being, as a means of stimulating interest of the populace in attending the theatre and supporting plays on the legitimate stage. She briefly outlined how the luncheon parties are planned, bringing together stars, directors, and producers at a function where the public can meet them, with matinee performances following where the populace can see those of the theatre actually at work.

The bitter financial struggle found by actors in the "live" theatre forces many to enter the motion picture field, Mrs. Fraley informed. After stressing how much the applause means to those on the stage, she listed some forthcoming plays for the city of brotherly love; gave a "break-down" of the costs of backing productions; and told of the time required to get into production and of the scheduling, etc.

Another feature of the afternoon was a dramatic reading by Mrs. Theodore B. Megargee, Sr. The

"ANNA CHRISTIE" DIES

Pauline Lord was better known in the 1920s than in recent years, but she never lost her position as one of the leading actresses in the American theater. She died the other day at the age of 60.

Going on the stage at 13, she did not come into the spotlight until Eugene O'Neill created one of the greatest feminine roles in the English-speaking theater—
Anna Christie.

The critics at the time noted that her acting as the girl of the water front cast over the theater a rare spell that would never be forgotten. They were right—her performance is still treasured.

After "Anna Christie" came a few other notable plays in which she starred—outstanding women characters such as Abby in "The Late Christopher Bean," Amy in
"They Knew What They Wanted," and most particularly Zenobia
in "Ethan Frome."

But in recent years the American theater offered little opportunity for this fine actress. Play after play in which she appeared turned out to be flops. Her last appearance on Broadway was six years ago, in a not very good play entitled "Sleep, My Pretty One."

This was the tragedy of an actress in search of a vehicle—and none forthcoming. But she will remain in memory as one of the great ladies of the theater.
And, of all her work, nothing will ever surpass her portrayal of the tragic girl, Anna Christie, whose life was engulfed by "that old debil sea."

LIGHT ON THE PLATZ

Potsdamer Platz, where Berlin's American, British and Russian zones meet, is both madhouse and melting pot. It is in the broad expanse of the platz, or square, that the reds stage most of their numerous rallies and indulge in various forms of psychological warfare to make life miserable for East and West Germans alike.

The other day the West Germans stole a base on the Russians by putting up a huge new "flash-cast" on one of the West Berlin buildings facing the square. The five-foot letters are clearly visible to anyone in the square, and for a block or so inside the Russian zone. What hurts the Russians most is that uncensored news is available to anyone with eyes and curiosity. Tens of thousands of eager Berliners are taking advantage of the offer.

The worst the furious Russians have been able to put out in a way of a counterpunch is a loudspeaker barrage which repeats, over and over again, "Americans Go Home!" This gives the West
Germans no credit for the idea.

But the Russians, like all mo-nomic peoples, are great copycats and it probably will not be long until an opposition "flashcast" will put in an appearance on the other side of the square. If so, Potsdamer Platz will be better lit than at any time since 1939. The Germans could at least take some comfort in that even though they would have a hard time making head or tail out of the claims and counter-claims.

ST. ANN'S ELEVEN TO PLAY TACONY HERE TOMORROW

St. Ann's A. A. will try for its third straight Northeast Conference victory tomorrow afternoon as it meets the Tacony Boys' Club on the high school field. Game will start at two o'clock.

Coach "Pete" Borneice and his assistant, Joe Roe, drilled the Purple and Gold contingent this week on forward pass defense. The Tacony team has two good receivers and several backfield stars who can whip the piskin on a line.

It was forward passes that enabled the Tacony team to hand the Bristol boys their lone defeat last season. However, in the playoffs, St. Ann's defense stopped the aerial attack of the Boys' Club and went on to victory. Coach Borneice is hoping that his defense will be able to hinder the airborne offense tomorrow.

St. Ann's tried out another quarterback this week in Tom Fiorentino, who has had experience at Muhlenberg and Rider College. Fiorentino will assist Ed Henratty and Joe Elmer in the calling of the plays.

Coach Borneice will start Howard Keys and Jim Bellardo at the end positions; Wade and Dudek at tackles; Monachello and Profy, the guard positions; and Nick Lomma at center. The backfield will be composed of Henratty, Elmer, Nick Spadacini, and Stan Lelinski.

Tacony is coming here with the purpose of stopping Spadacini and Lelinski. Spadacini has scored four touchdowns in two games while Lelinski has also been an outstanding ground-gainer. Defensively, the line will match any club in the circuit. Borneice also has a host of substitutions that will fill any spot on the team without weakening it in any manner.

St. Ann's has two conference wins and one defeat. It lost to Olney in the opener and then won games over Rockne and Langhorne Aces. Tacony also has two wins and a defeat. Its lone loss was at the hands of Dittman last week. Incidentally, Dittman is the only unbeaten club in the circuit.

Sharing second position with St. Ann's and Tacony in the loop is the Willow Grove team which scored a surprise last week by beating the Olney Vets.

Langhorne Aces will play Cheltenham tomorrow on the latter's field at Ashbourne road and Central avenue. Cheltenham, Langhorne needs this triumph to remain in the running for a playoff position.

In other games scheduled, Dittman meets Olney Vets at Olney and Willow Grove plays Rockne on the latter's field.

number, entitled "The Missing Years," had its setting in the orchard of a New England farm.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. D. Barker Cook and Mrs. Adolph Ancker.

A portion of the business session was given over to announcement of plans for October 27th, when the local club will be hostess at the fall meeting of Bucks Co. Federation of Women's Clubs in Bristol Presbyterian Church. The president, Mrs. Elwood Goslin, announced that past presidents and the president of the Junior Travel Club, Mrs. John C. Black, will serve in the capacity of hostesses; Mrs. James S. Douglass and Mrs. Thomas F. Protzman will supervise program distribution; Mrs. Walter W. Pitkonka and her committee will provide floral arrangements; and the hobby show, between 1:30 and 2:30, will be in charge of Mrs. Ralph B. Scheffey and her committee. The morning session will open at 10:30.

Mrs. Protzman reminded members of the annual meeting of the Red Cross at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Phila., on November 15th. The resignation of Mrs. Anthony Burton as a member was accepted with regret. Mrs. Burton having moved from this area several months ago.

Arrangements for a trip to United Nations session at Lake Success, N. Y., on Nov. 10th, were announced by Mrs. Earl H. Tomb, the group to leave the club home at 7:30 a. m. The president, who called upon Mrs. Michael A. Hartry, for minutes of the luncheon meeting, read a "Prayer for Peace."

BRISTOL HIGH WARRIORS CAPTURE SECOND STRAIGHT WIN IN LOWER BUCKS COUNTY FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Bristol High captured its second straight Lower Bucks County League tilt last night as it won over the Southampton greyhounds, 19-6, on the local gridiron. The triumph evened Bristol's record for the season at three wins and three losses. Southampton's loss was its first of the season, the team having tied two games and winning another.

The win was no easy one for the Warriors as Coach Claude Lodge's minions was a determined outfit and in the game until the end. The Southies scored at the end of the third quarter and were threatening again towards the finish of the game. Southampton's previous drive had been broken up by a pass interception by Dan Davis.

Jack Quinn, former fullback of Long Beach (California), scored a pair of the Bristol touchdowns while the other was made by Andy Accardi. This pair did the bulk of the ground-gaining for the winners although occasionally Ercole Petrizzi picked up nice ground while "Lou" Loeffler did fine work in blocking.

During the first half playing and early in the third quarter, Bristol clearly outplayed the visitors. But from mid-way in the third session until the final horn sounded, Southampton was running Bristol ragged. Southampton made five first downs in the final quarter and had three in its third canto drive. Its total for the game was 10. Bristol had twelve first downs, five in the entire second half and only one in the last quarter.

Howard "Sonny" Peak was the outstanding player of the losing team. Peak did most of the ball-carrying for Southampton. He also did the kicking and exhibited several nice blocks. On the defense, he was in there at all times to stop the Bristol runners. The passing for the invaders was another job for Peak.

The Southampton team made a threat in the first period when it reached the 20-yard line of Bristol. The drive started on the greyhounds' 44 when Calhoun recovered a Petrizzi fumble. After Bristol was penalized five yards, Peak went off tackle for a first on the 20 and then Peak made a first on the 25. A Bristol penalty for pass interference put the ball on the 20 but Southampton was penalized to the 30 to end the march.

Bristol's touchdown came in the second quarter although the march started in the first session with a 15-yard runback of a kick by Accardi who brought the ball to mid-field. Quinn knocked off five yards and Holeton lost three. Accardi made a beautiful run of 12 yards to the Southampton 30. Quinn picked up seven at tackle and after a pass was grounded, Accardi stepped off enough yards for a first on the 20. Loeffler could not find a receiver so ran the ball until dropped on the 10. On the first play, Quinn went through the line for a touchdown and Myrl Binkley place-kicked the extra point.

The quarter was almost over when Coach Harry McClester's team pushed over another score. Ned Albright recovered a partially blocked kick on the Southampton 32. Holeton ran the ball and appeared to be trapped until Loeffler put on a nice block to enable him to get away for nine yards, putting the ball on the 23. Accardi made a first on the 13 and Quinn galloped the remaining distance for the touchdown, making the half-time score, 13-0.

The Warriors made four consecutive first downs to pave the way for their third and final touchdown. The sustained march came after
